PROJECTS

Hotel Management System

Developed a Hotel Management System for a college project utilizing MySQL for database management, demonstrating abilities in database design and application development

Virtual Mouse

A virtual Mouse that mimics every action of a computer mouse using OpenCV and Mediapipe framework was used for our college miniproject.

Autobill

Developed an advanced billing system integrating IoT devices, using deep learning algorithms (CNN) with the Flask framework. The system accurately identifies objects for billing, combining hardware and software for efficient transaction processing. Python was used for the backend, while HTML, CSS, and JavaScript were employed to create a responsive and user-friendly front-end interface. This approach ensures precise and reliable billing, making the system highly effective.
